

ON SQORE

Sqore believes in equal access to opportunities based on relevant skill sets. We also believe that competition brings out the very best in people. And at the end of the day we think that passion and hard work should be rewarded.

Facts

- Founded in 2010 by four graduates from Stockholm School of Economics and KTH
- Head office in Stockholm, Sweden
- Employs 50+ staff
- 20 different nationalities
- In 2015 venture capitalists Northzone invested 3.5 million USD
- Currently more than 350 clients globally
- Work with 1,800 higher education partners
- Network of 1,200 marketing partners
- More than 650,000 students in the Sqore.com community and access to another 15 million through global partners

The Higher Education Segment

The university market is growing and is now estimated to be worth 6 trillion USD.

Over the past decade the global university market has become even more global. The number of universities that offer an education and programs that cater to international students has grown notably. Attracting the best students is instrumental for these universities to be successful. Clients include University of Edinburgh, HEC Paris, University of Helsinki, London Business School and Stockholm Business School.

The Corporate Segment

Online talent platforms will add 2.7 trillion USD to the world economy by 2025. That's 72 million full time jobs, says McKinsey.

Larger international corporates face an increased difficulty in finding the right candidates for key positions. We see that the right skills sets have become crucial for successful recruitment rather than traditional CVs. Clients include IBM, IKEA, Autodesk, The Economist Group, H&M Foundation, Schneider Electronics and Spotify.